Number 5 Food and Wine Tip

If desiring for a white wine with your meal, but having red meat, look towards an oaked Chardonnay.

The weight of the wine will not be overpowered by the red meat, and the tannin from the oak will help harmonise the proteins of the dish.

Number5 Food and Wine Tip

New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc is famed for its pungently aromatic green capsicum (bell pepper), gooseberry & lush passionfruit characters. Styles can vary from this traditional style to those showing fresh-cut grass, tomato stalks, melons & lime.

Number 5 Wine Tip

Syrah or Shiraz? Pour yourself a glass of your favorite syrah or shiraz and relax...they're exactly the same grape varietal. The only difference is that this dark, luscious grape is called shiraz when it's grown in Australia. It's called syrah pretty much everywhere else..

Shiraz tends towards bigger bolder styles with spice and black pepper. Syrah leans towards more floral, elegant wines. Remember however that Shiraz/Syrah is always big bodied.

Number 5 Wine Tip

New Zealand Pinot Noir shows the fine tannins and elegance of good Burgundy with the added excitement of vibrant, intense fruit and secondary herbal, spice and game characters.

Distinct regional styles are beginning to emerge from New Zealand. The Wairarapa wines are full-bodied and dense with rich dark plum and chocolate flavours. Marlborough and Nelson show complex, tight structure with bright cherry flavours. Waipara Pinot Noir shows hints of pepper and spice whilst Central Otago are known for their herbal notes, berryfruit and firm tannins.
